mine the magnificent scenery of Portiand harbon nd obtain a first view of the beautiful "Porest City" it early dawn, there will be ample opportunity to do g, at five o'clock in the morning.

If we wish, after taking breakfast, we can spend ountry through a not very Inviting region towards he far famed "White Hill" of New Humpshire.— Another hour, and in the distance we see Icoming vanuer nour, and in the distance we see terming up the grand aentinels that guard the outmost posts. At Conway, on the left far away rises the many-shredChocu na with its various peaks sharply defined a tha morning sun. A few miles furthar, at Nor h

Conway we pais in through the massive gateway in-to the heart of the mountain region. On the right is the pointed cladel of Kearsage, towering more than three thousand feet into tha sky, while on the left, stretches the frowning for ires of Moat Moun-tain, grint and forbidding enough to discourage the more families, assistance, for the stretches the more familiar acquaintance of any but the most de-ermined climber.

Hit we may not pause fur more than a passing glimpse. The train rushes rapidly on through the intervale that borders the turbulant Saco in ita pass age smong the mountains, past the "Glen Station" "Histlett", of which more anon, whate we take as ervation car, if the weather be fine, and soon w nd the rough head of Ilset's Ledge and are a e entrance to the world renowned "Clawford otch"; then for nine miles the track lies midway long the mountain side, with crassy Crawford and nassive Webster on the right neross the Sacuvalley

while sharply above us on the left almost over out heads, rise the comrade heights of Mounts Willey and Willard, the latter for miles we seem striving to picrce. Wa have already passed the Iresale a rankanstein Cliff, the Willey Bridge, those wo letiul feats of niechsnical art, while at the bitlom of the valley many hundred leet below in we have seen the nieniorable Willey House, and recalled its

g but barely room for the hardly perceptible Saco s it forces its way through the monstrous ledge and the carrisge road by ita side, we turn rapidly to the left through a deep cut in the mountain side and ride luto the glade where stands the Crawford

House with its busy throng of idlers, with its beau tiful Lake and delightful walks and rides. We are now at the highest point of the road and nearly two thousand feet above the sea at Portland harbor.—

Still we rush onward and some three miles distant we come in sight of the Mount Pleasant House, and

abyan's, celebrated for their magnificent views

Mount Washington Range, a few miles on the

At Fabyan'a we stop for an hour, take dinusr if we wish, and look through the immense throng if all, befora we start on our return. At "Crawford's", we atop for two or three houra and look over tha besutiful scenes that surround it, and they are many sod charming, perhaps taking the wagon ride to the top of Mount Willard, so near, so sasy of access and whose prospect is so grand, and then we make our lett in excellent sondition for the appetizing supper that our plrasant landlord of the Battlett Huuse, Frank George, is sure to provide. We have travelled enough and seen enough to enable us to thor-oughly enjoy a long night's sleep; and the ticket from Portland to Fabyan and back, with the privi-

width, about six hundred fect sboys asa Isvel, and almost completely beauted in by mountains. Psy to the seast, as if to shut but all intruders, right across the entrance, stands the shapely peak of Kearsarge; on the south, Maria, Table and Bost

Mountains, with Silver Spring and Trimountain on the flank, while scross the Western end, in the lar distance, rises the malestic Hancock, one of the

with its ragged frunt threatening with perpetua frown. In the rear, and but a few miles distant, is the lofty and bare summet of Crawford, while close at hand is Parker, with its lesser, yet no pigny tel-low, Langdon. These, varying in height from twencomes personally his guests and sees to sil their creature comforts, good first, frests and windesome, and in plenty, ratoring his own regetables and milk, for he is a farmer as well as landlond, and was been upon the sput, when the prasent hotel was an old country taken, on the unity thoroughlare from the sea coast through the nountains, and here the old larges stopped.

Here may be lound, easion siter arason, the same people, lines who have discovered its beauties and its comforts, and they come here because they can find in better quality and quantity, what they are most needing, quiet and rest, and we, too, after a week's agioum number the hospitable root, shall be cunstrained the say that this is the best place for a timoughly confortable rest we were even in. Not on much site as to be a burden and a labor, but just enough to reveal the real pleasure of social interactions. And yet it has its excitements, or at least what passes for such in its ordinary quietinde, for mothing since upon one Subbath morning, three biddes, newly made such un the previous evening, appeared at the breaklast table.

But use time and space will not permit us to more than connucued this "home for the weary" to all such as an excelsing a place in which to spend a summer varior.

opened with some of the most beautiful wenther we have had this year. People whe return from the country and the ahore as soon as the summer has passed lose the most beautiful part of the season, for while the days are warm ami pleasant, the nights and mornings are rooi and enjoyable. But the rale seems to be that the thirty-lirst of August closes the season, and with a few exceptions city people, especially those who have children to attend school, abide by that rule. Many of the seashore houses which have heretofore kept open mitll the tenth or ilfreenth of September, the proprietors intving found that after the first of the month they were running bebindhand every day, are already closed; but those people who own or hire places out of town mostly reputly much later until Sentember, and we think they show good sense; and were it not on account of the opening of the schools, many of POLITE.

We doubt if any city in this country has a fluer police force than Boston has, Very seldom does it occur that one of the force is guilty of any missiemennor. They are a line appearing body of men, and although police commissioners have done their best in ordering hideons head coverings for them, still of our Boston police we have good reason to be proud. New Yorkers brag of their "Broadway squad", meu selected for their spleudid physique-every one is fully six feet tall-hut we think from our force could be selected fully as fine equad as the famoue Broadway, and for morals and good behavior we know the New York police does not compare with ours.

Aven's Ham Vnoon will restore fashet or gray, light or red har to a rich brown or deep black, as may be desired. It softens and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes and cures dandruff and humors. By its use falling hair is checked, and a new growth will be produced in all cases where the follicles are not destroyed or the glands decayed. Its effects are beautifully shown on brashy, weak, or sickly ladir, on which a few epplications will produce the glass and freshness of youth. Harnless and sure in its results, it is incomparable as a dresslag, and is especially valued for the sort testre and richness of tone it imparts.

348 BROADWAYN TO

The following letter in from a Weymouth lady who is ranking the sour of Europe.

VENECE, July 27: 1882. We arrived here last evening, and when we reached the depot we took a gondola. At first I felt a little nervous—there were so many of them— but after they had struck each other a few times and I found they did not go over, I did not mind it. It seemed very strange, not a home to be seen, the streets very narrow, but the shores were very handsome and the square was grand. This innerting we visited the Paisce of the Doges, magnificent beyond description. The largest pic-ture in the world is there, Tintorettl's "Paradise," and another, "The Judgment," linmense pletures, grand and impressive. We visited the prison and dungeon, which were frightful, and af-terwards we went to the shore—as they call it—where the people go in bathing. We took a stenmboat, and ofter a ten minutes sail and five minutes ride on the horse cars, we reached the place— the Coney Island of Venice, where the people bathe in the Adriatic, the men and women not being allowed to bathe together. Quite a number of our party went in and enjoyed it much, the water being very warm. ... Everything seems so strange, the peo-ple so peculiar, so dark with such hiack yes; but they seem happy and lazy; and no wonder, as it is very warm here. The women wear black lace and we lalies have adopted the fashion. There s not a carriage-horse in the elty; those on the horse ears had a straw bonnel drawn over the head, which looked very unity. The canal runs directly past my window. A man came last evening n a gondola; he had a hand organ and tie sang in the strongest and ninst pe-culiar manner possible; we thought we should laugh ourselves sick. The place is peculiar indeed, but possesses a sia gular chara. We had a splendid thu ast evening with friends here, all of no taking a gondola ride. We had music, slinging and threworks; all along the shore, lights of all colors were hurning, lluminating the grand old palaces, and when opposite the American Consul's we cheered and burnt lights, the full moon adding glory to the scene, which was magalficent beyond description. Many gondolas joined outs, and floated together. A singer in one of theat had nn elegant voice and he sang alone and grandly. itut I must close. We have been here two days. Tomorrow we leave and spend Sunday la Florence, when we expect to ancet some friends

Letter from South Hingham,

Church services were resumed here st Sunday, with a good attendance Mr. Niehols was la his hest element Cext, "Ite ye also ready," from while he pastor drew many striking ilinatralons of the importance of always pre aring for the future.

Physical as well as spiritual health is always above par at South Hingham. Whether it is the weather or the untri ions food that the people cal, it is remarkably healthy for this time of the year. We pray for rain, but unt as 1 oblen times are our prayers seemingly

The number of people who witaesses the illumination is estimated by some as high as fifty thousand. It was a brilliant disjuny, as those who were there can testify.

One thing is sadly negiceled, and the s the roads and walks around and in the yicinity of the Centre House. There is an immense amount of trave lu this virinity, and it does seem as if there should be enterprise enough mong the proprieiors here to make de ent roads and foot-paths for the publie Iravel. The school teachers are all at the posts and will open for lusiness Monday. Charles It. Morse will teach the Grammar school in this place, Mr. Bates having been chosen supervisor of the schools, and to aid, to some extent id the work of the High school.

The dry weather is having a direful effect upon vegetation of all kinds. Short crops are expected when harvest

Now is the time for East Weymouth folks to have a good supply of pure water. Accord Pond has given evidence enough this senson to convince the most skeptical of its ability to supply not the world, but a large part of h with drink and means of Irrigation. Now is the time to strike before the day of grace is past. The pond is only about fifteen luches below high water murk, notwithstanding the immeuse drain upon it this season, n notice that he declines to be a candilate again for the Second Congressional District, the undivided attention is directed towards Gov. Long as his successor. Undoubtedly Mr. Harris held the post against any opposition that could be brought against him. Indeed, Mr. Harris was a strong man, and a faithful and able exponent of the feeling and sentiment of the District. Not untila few politicians at Quincy got to gether to make a fizzle, was ever a word uttered or a censure made upon his doings during his ten years of service to the country. His successor, whoever he may be, will be formule If, at the end of ten years of service, lils record will hear un luspection equal to the one his predecessor has left behind. Gov. Long has made rapid strales h polities for twelve years past. | tn 1870 he first became a permanent resident in Hingham. In 1871 he was a candidate for representative by the Democratic party, and was unsuccessfully run by thein for three successive years, ti 1875 he united with the Itemablican party, and was nonlinated at the conven-tion as a condidate for representative, last not without a sharp contest. In the legislature he was clairman of conditi tee of bills of the filled reading. Since then his course has been upward, till the Boston Journal has nominated his for the vice-presidency in 1884. In 1872 Mr. Long delivered the ind-dress at the dedication of the High choolhouse. Is was highly spoken of by every one. The secretary of the Board of Education was present, and spoke of It by the highest terms. Mr. Long has done good service in many ways in timpham, and as one of the baard of school committee he was a valnable member. Everywhere and always a man's worth must be gauged to some extent, though only in part, by his domesticity. Exclusively dwalling upon ourselves, on our own virtues and failings and experiences, waken our power of sympathy with others, while it increases our acute-ueas and sensibility as regards self. Whatever concation or experience tends to make man or women more thoughtful, more intelligent, more inde-pendent, and happire will also improve the work of the world, supply the wants

I me alona with my considered,
In a place where time had counted,
And we talked of my fermer living.
In the land where the years increas
And I felt I objust have to me,
And to face the meaver and question
Throughout an occurity.
The shouts of fargotten sotions
Came floating better my sight,
And things that I thought were dead in Were alive with a terrible might,
And the vision of all my past life
Was an awful thing to face—

And the vision of all my past life.
Was an awful thing to face—
Alone with my emeciane sitting.
In that eliently noisun place.
And I thought of a far away warning.
Of e sorrow that was to be mine,
In a land that then was a firture,
But now is the present time.
And I thought of my farmer thinking.
Of the judgment-day to be;
But sitting alone with my conscience.
Seemed judgment enough for me.
And I wonderned if there was a future.
To this land beyond the grave;
But no one gave me an answer,

But no our gave me an answer. And no one came to myo. Then I lelt that the future was prese Grown into eternity.

Then I woka from my timely dream
And the vision persed away.

And I knew the far-eway warning

We also work to be a seen a seen

And I know the far-eway warning
Was the warning of yesterday.
And I mayed that I may not forget it,
In the lend before the grave,
Thet I may not cry in the future,

And no one come ta mye.

And no one come ta mye.

And so I have learnt a lesson,

Which I ought to have known before,

And which, though I learnt it dreaming,

I hope to forget no more.

So I sit alone with my conscience

In the place when the years increase.

In the place where the years increased.

The name recails at once the belif-forgotten details of one of the grandest and gloomiest tragedies of modern times, and, for any one who wishes to know what Egypt really is, it is worth whitis to look back and see what deeda were done in this quiet spot on a certain fine summer evening within the memory of men who are still alive.

The man was under 30, on wood. They turn is oli pefating, crayon sketches, and pletares in pen and ink, water color, and, is fact, any and the very sort. It used to be necessary to draw on the block with what is called a figging with his graver. It seemed, when one saw that the lines in the block of wood olosely followed those of the picture at his side, as if he was reproducing the picture in that way. It seemed incredible that he should be doing this, and his visitor asked him about it.

Ere this can appear the cancus of the Republicans for a choice of delegates to the State and Congressional Conventions will have been held, but we shall not have the report of the delegates me concerned, they will of course go for John D. Long. Before we write again the gubernatorial nomination will have been made; but we may say, in advance of 'that, the choice of that specify and the gubernatorial nomination will have been made; but we may say, in advance of 'that, the choice of the specific of that, the choice of the specific of the second choice. We have an ever yet abandoned our faith as to the next governor, and nutil after the convention shall have been held we shall believe we are to have the old ticket of Long and Weston.

In case Mr. Long should be nominated at Worcester, which is not yet by any means improbable, it may make a change in the naming of a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will not again be a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will not again be a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will not again be a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will not again be a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will not again be a candidate for the second district, for though the governor has virtually stated that ha will see a candidate for the second district, the different conventions and among the delegates for line Sensition, he could lardly refuse a manuman on monination, which will be tandary to the necessity of nominating him. Oscar Wilde, if he la rightly reported, would rejoice at the nppearance of Hingham this full. The sunflower blooms in nimost every gardeu, and literally overtops all other flowers. If we can can have a more abundant supply of eggs from the sunflower, Oscar Wilds will not have lived wholly in vnlu.

Everyone nequalited with the locally knows that there should be some means provided for protection in case of fire at the point where Hull, Colmsset and Hingham meet, at what we may call the junction of Rockland and Hull streets and Jerusalem road. In that vicinity there is a vast amount of property in each of the three towns, Hingham having the lenst; and Hingham, with the exception of one engine at Cohasset vilinge, furnishes the only fire department to cover that whole territory, which is at least two miles distant from the nearest apparatus of the Hiugham department. Those in that locality whose property is in Hingham feel that they have a right to demand from this town protection. There is the large stable of McCuin & Davis on Itoekland street, one grocery store at least, and a large number of dwelling houses. All of that properly pays taxes as high as lu any

Thursday, at 10 A. M., the beautiful immber of dwelling houses. All of that properly pays taxes as high as in any part of the town, and yet the owners have virinally no protection in case of fire. Colasset has a large portinn of its inxable property along Jerusalem road, and Hull has also a great part of its property south of the Hotel Nantasket.

The fawn of Hingham has two engines of which it wishes to dispose; they are good machines and have done good service—the Extinguisher and the Niagara. The Extinguisher house at the hard bor will probably have to be removed to make room for the change of line of North and Summer streets which has been petitioned for. Here is an opportunity for Hull and Colasset to unite to provide protection at the point we have maned, and probably at a very small cost. If the selectimen of those two towns do not move in this matter, it ey may regret it. Two engines or even one engine and a hose earlage, stutioned near the Nantasket post-eight.

they may regret it. Two engines or even one engine and a hose earliager stationed near the Naniasket post office might in one day or night, be the means of saving property of one hundred times tho value of the cost of the two engines we speak of. And as Hingham people need protection also in that vicinity, we think it would be nothing more than right that one of the engines should be given to any company formed there.

We winto this to give the matter a start; it is for the officials of the three towns, more particularly of Hull and Robbing a Train.

Five or six desperadoes, with drawn revolvers, captured an excersion train between Grand Rapids, Mich., and Toledo, O., recently, and committed daring robberies end outrages. One sitizen lost $75 and was thrown from the platform. The conductor was used up trying to arrest onn of the roughs. All the desperadors escaped except Larry King, a notrious charactar, whom the police secured when the train reached Toledo.

OF LIFE. Friar Cuthbert was one of the class cular preachers so popular in medieval times. They preached what we alled Risus Paschslas—comic homilies for Easter. Their works have been printed, and the student of early manners may consult them with advantage, though he may be repelled by their conveness. They were bold satirists, dwelling perhaps too exclusively on the baser aspect of human life. In their de-nunciation of prevailing vices they did not spare thin most exalted personages.

THE CAMPAIGN.

Although it is more than a week sluce the nomination for state officers was made the campalan has not as yet fairly opened, but there will be lively three before election day. The first impresslan among hosts of republicans was that the nomination of Mr. Illshop was not as strong a one as should have been made and last week the expression was frequently heard, "Well, we may make our minds to lake ald Hen this time." But already there is a decided change In southment and Gen'l Butler, although he has the regular democratic nomination, is not going to be afforved to walk over the track, for Mr. Hishop will draw out a very full vote, and those who antleipate that his apponent will draw very heavily from the republicans will find themselves mistaken. We do not hear so much of the kind of talk which we beard three years ago in regard to Gen'l Butler, to the effect that he had fought so hard for the position of goveryear and see what he would acromplish. Then a great many people really believed that if elected he would make some railleal changes, that the state government would be more pure and very decidedly nors economical, and that labor would be better paid. Then a good many republicans, carried away with the idea that there was a good deal of corruption mol thinking any change must be for the better, voted the democratic ticket. It is going to be hard work for Gen'l do well to visit Mr. Wilkins' stables, where Hutler this fall to convince the people they can see one of the finest animals that that the administration of John D. Long has been corrupt, and the only dange of defeat to the republicans is, not that Gen'l Butler will draw from them, but that general apathy may keep hosts of republicans from the polls. This danger will be fought and averied, and we will find that Gen'l Hutler does not poll one hundred and ten thousand votes in November, but that the republican vote will be fully up to that given to John D. Long three years ago.

Weymouth and Its Early Settlers.

If was with much pleasure that I lis tened to the admirable address of Thos. W. Hicknell Esq. at the Bicknell family reutilon, on Wednesday last, a report of which was published in last week's paper. There were however some of its statements that need explanation of its statements that need expaniation to prevent a misapprehension of the facts concerned. Without an explanation the impression would be conveyed that the Hall company, of which Zachary Hickmell and his family were members, were the first real settlers of the Iown, and that there were only n very few it any people living there on their arrival; also that this company organized the first church here, immediately after their settlement, and built the tirst after their settlement, and hull the tirst meeting-house on or near the spot where the present meeting-house stands.

By the widehing of South street and band street a large number of liqplors are literally turned out of many years about the hardest part of the city, and although the passenger travel to the Hoston and Albany and Old Colony depots had the effect to somewhat civilize the locality, the lmmense number of bar rooms,-about every other lower floor in the lerritory was used as a bar room, inale the South Cove a dangerous place, a terror to all peaceable people and hand on the who attempted to keep border there. Perhaps nothing better proves the large profits of the liquor trade than the fact that some of the most valuable property lu the city has been given up for many years to it. Around every ston will be found bar rooms. with the lumense travel which, over the Hoston and Albany and Old Colony roads, centres at what was known as the South Cove, there should be a hig retall business done in dry goods, groceries, etc. Some enterprising fellow who should start a hig ready made clothing house, or a big refall shoe store on Kuceland street, between Smith street fortune. Hut we have departed from strects will lacate elsewhere, but we thluk it is a good temperance move to our deputs, a perfect pest of bar rooms. THE CAMPAIGN.

Although it is more than a week since the nomination for state officers waopened, but there will be lively three before election day. The first impres sion among hosts of republicans was that the nomination of Mr. Hishop was made and last week the expression was frequently heard, "Well, we may make up our minds to take old Ren this time." But already there is a decided change lu seuthnent and Gen'l Butler, although tion, is not going to be allowed to walk over the track, for Mr. "Hishop will draw out a very full vote, and those who antleipate that his apponent will draw year and see what he would accomplish. Then a great many people really believed that if elected he would make some raillcal changes, that the state government would be more pure and very decidently more economical, and that labor would be better paid. Then a good many republicans, carried away with the idea that there was a good deal of corruption and thinking any change must be for Alcantara, four year old record 2 23, sold the better, voted the democratic ticket. It is going to be bard work for Gen'l do well to cish Mr. Wilkins' stables, where Hutler this full to convince the people they can see one of the linest animals that that the administration of John D. Long has been corrupt, and the only danger of defeat to the republicans is, not that Gen'l Hutler will draw from them, but that general apathy may keep linsts of republicans from the polls. This dan ger will be fought an I averted, and we Ill find that Gen'l Hutler does not poll one hundred and ten thousand votes in November, but that the republican vote will be fully up to that given to John SENATOR NOMINATION. Lovell, of East Weymouth, as the conand we know of no man whom the vot-ers of the district will be more pleased to honor. We don't expect that the election of Col. Lavell will increase the clection of Col. Lavell will increase the run of herrings and smelts, or that by his influence Weymouth river will be dredged to a sufficient depth to admit of the passage of the Cunard steamers up to our wharves, but that he will make a good, honest legislator, and attend faithfully to the interests of his weymouth listoriest Society. constituents, we have not a doubt. The tomination gives uniceful satisfaction and the prospects of a rousing majorily for the Colonel are very flattering.

It was with much pleasure that I listened to the admirable address of Thos W. Bicknell Esq. at the Bicknell family reunion, on Wednesday last, a report of which was published in last week's which was published in last week's paper. These were however some of its statements that need explanation paper. There were however some of the statements that need explanation to prevent it misrapprehension of the facte concerned. Without an explanation the impression would be conveyed that the Hall company, of which Zachary Illekuell and his tamily were members, were the first real settlers of the town, and that there were only a very few if any people living there on their arrival; also that this company organized the first church here, immediately after their settlement, and built the list meeting-house on or near the spat where the present meeting-house stands.

As nearly as I can ascertain, there were living in the town at the time of their arrival, as many as tifty families at least, and perhaps twice the number. Old Spain, below Burylag Hill, was full, so much so that the new comers acterobliged to take up their residence to the south, extending their plantations in land. I think it will be difficult to find in trace of one of the Hall company to the north of that line, until many years later, when the renigrants who had removed, was bought by some of them.

As for the church, there can be be the both and other emigrants who had removed, was bought by some of them. As for the church, there can be but liftle doubt that one was formed at least ten years previous, and that it had had several ministers. Hocuments betaing upon this matter are exceedingly care, but leftenmentances bear very strongly in this direction. More than this, the modabilities are very strong that hey. probabilities are very strong that Hev. Robert Lenthal was the number at the arrival of Mr. Hull, and that difference noising from the presence of two miniters in the same parish at the same time were the cause of the troubles that occurred in that church for several years occurred in that church for several years which were not settled until after the removal of Rev. Mr. Newman nucl his company to Rehoboth in 1644.

Of the first needing-house nothing definite is known ulthough it is generally admitted to have been located on Burylag Hill. The house built in 1680 was probably erected u mumber of rods to the cust of the present editice, and was built 1751. A new one was built soon after, about aftere the present looping strady.
